

ON SEASHORE LINKS AND INLAND COURTS

Hamptons,

Southampton, Aug. 5.—With tennis and golf, the week at Southampton has sped away rapidly. Tennis has again come much into favor this summer and Newport is responsible in setting the example. The tennis tournament with its surprises and the golf cotillon finishing up the ladies' handicap was two of the events of the last seven days. The latter was given by Mrs. Henry Trevor and the favors were in golf designs and the figures were founded on golf with a golf quadrille.

After the enervating week of hard golf work there is little talk about sports this week. The revival of tennis in popular interest is leading many of the non-golfers to watch the play on the fine Meadow Club courts, where a tournament lasting into next week is being held.

The social side of the golf tournament was most impressive. Dinners and luncheons every day in the club house and in most of the cottages were the rule. Among those entertaining and entertained were: Mr. and Mrs. B. Aymer Sands, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Clark, Miss Wood, Miss Sands, Victor Morawetz, Miss Clark, S. L. Parrish (president of the club), James C. Parrish, Hermann Leroy Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Coe, Dr. and Mrs. H. Holbrook Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bowers Lee, George E. Wood, Mrs. Charles Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Schieffelin, Miss Dorothy Schieffelin, Nathan H. Lord, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Henderson, Miss Henderson, Mrs. E. S. Knapp, Colonel and Mrs. Henry May, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Breese, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harman, Jr., General and Mrs. Thomas H. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Trevor, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Robertson, T. Markoe Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. William Maurice, Stewart Waller and Dr. Charles Townsend Dade. Mr. Henderson led the cotillon.

The E. E. Bartlett is here for August. Salem H. Wales has been entertaining Mr. Munn, of the Scientific American. Smith Ely, of New York, is a guest of Mrs. Charles A. Smylie.

The E. E. Atkinson cottage will be used by Mr. and Mrs. E. Albert Stevens, who have just returned from Europe, for the balance of the season. The Misses Isella have been visiting here, being entertained by many.

John Baker and family are at the Meadow Club. Sherman Hoyt is visiting Henry R. Hoyt for a few weeks.

Charlton T. Lewis is visiting Roland R. Conklin, in the Shinnecock Hills.

Easthampton, Aug. 5.—The quaint and delightful village of Easthampton has given itself up to golf and bathing. A little from the sea there are green fields and picturesque roads, and those who are tired of the two pastimes so prevalent at all the watering places this summer drive and ride. There are excursions to be made all over the end of this island and old towns and pretty bits of woodland to be explored. Golf is only an accessory to the delights of Easthampton, where life has always been in the open and out of door sports always the amusements for the summer.

There is brisk play on the Maldstone Club links this month. A tilted handicap with one score a week, eighteen holes medal play for qualifying, the best eight scores to qualify with a cup presented by W. A. Wheelock is the incentive. In September there will be match play, thirty-six holes, the prize to be given the second week of the month.

Both Mrs. Frederic Gallatin and Mrs. Everett Herriek have given cups to be played for on the Maldstone's tennis courts during August. Active competition for them has already commenced.

Recent new members of the Maldstone Club are: Miss I. P. Tiffany, E. A. Penniman, Harry Lee, Paul Beck, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Thorne, J. H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLean, the Misses Beattie, Rebekah and Emily McLean, Mrs. W. M. Whitney, Jr., Fred Western, the Misses Horn, Mrs. Wigham, R. E. Wigham, Dr. Mitchell, Miss R. R. Blackwell, Frank H. Bosworth and Miss McKim. Judge Albright, of Pennsylvania, Miss Cameron, of Virginia, and Miss Alice Bartlett are guests of Theodore Stratton.

Quogue, Aug. 5.—A long drive from the station through woods and fields brings you to Quogue, the delight of the old-fashioned sportsman. Here one finds bathing, boating, fishing and later shooting. Golf has hardly begun to take a firm hold on the people, as aquatic sports have been their great pleasures for generations. Even in the depths of winter Quogue is visited by the old-time sportsman, who knows where the best winter shooting and fishing can be had in the vicinity of New York.

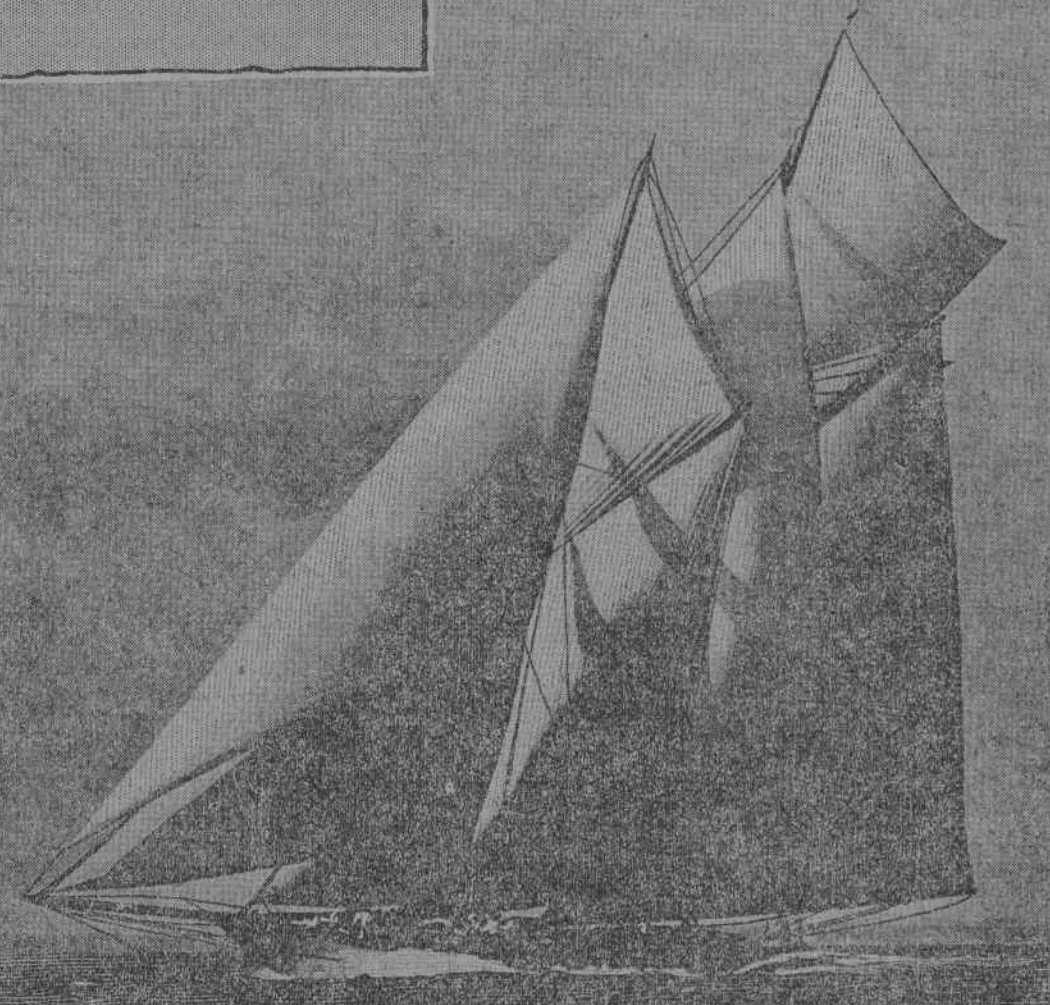

For long years society has neglected this end of the Hamptons, but this season it has regained its pristine glory. All the cottages are filled and Howell's, Post's and the Quogue Hotels are crowded. Some of the visitors are Mrs. I. L. Lyons and sons, Irving and Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Phillips, Mrs. Jones and Miss Rosalie Jones, formerly of New Orleans, but now of New York; Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Jackson and the Misses Jackson, of Washington; Mrs. Charles F. Clark, James P. Clark, Miss Mary Clark and Mr. and Mrs. David C. Townsend, of New York.

Far Rockaway,

Aug. 5.—Back in New York, and again along the Long Island coast. There are few places after all where general sports flourish so much as they do in this section. Cedarhurst is a sporting settlement and Meadowbrook is not far away. People think nothing of driving ten or twenty miles across country to go to a golf match or a dance. The ocean and the waters of the inlets are crowded with craft and the fishermen say that fishing was never better. Indeed, along the various aquatic villages that one passes on the railroad to get to Rockaway Beach and Hammels, there is evidence on every side that this is a very busy fishing season.

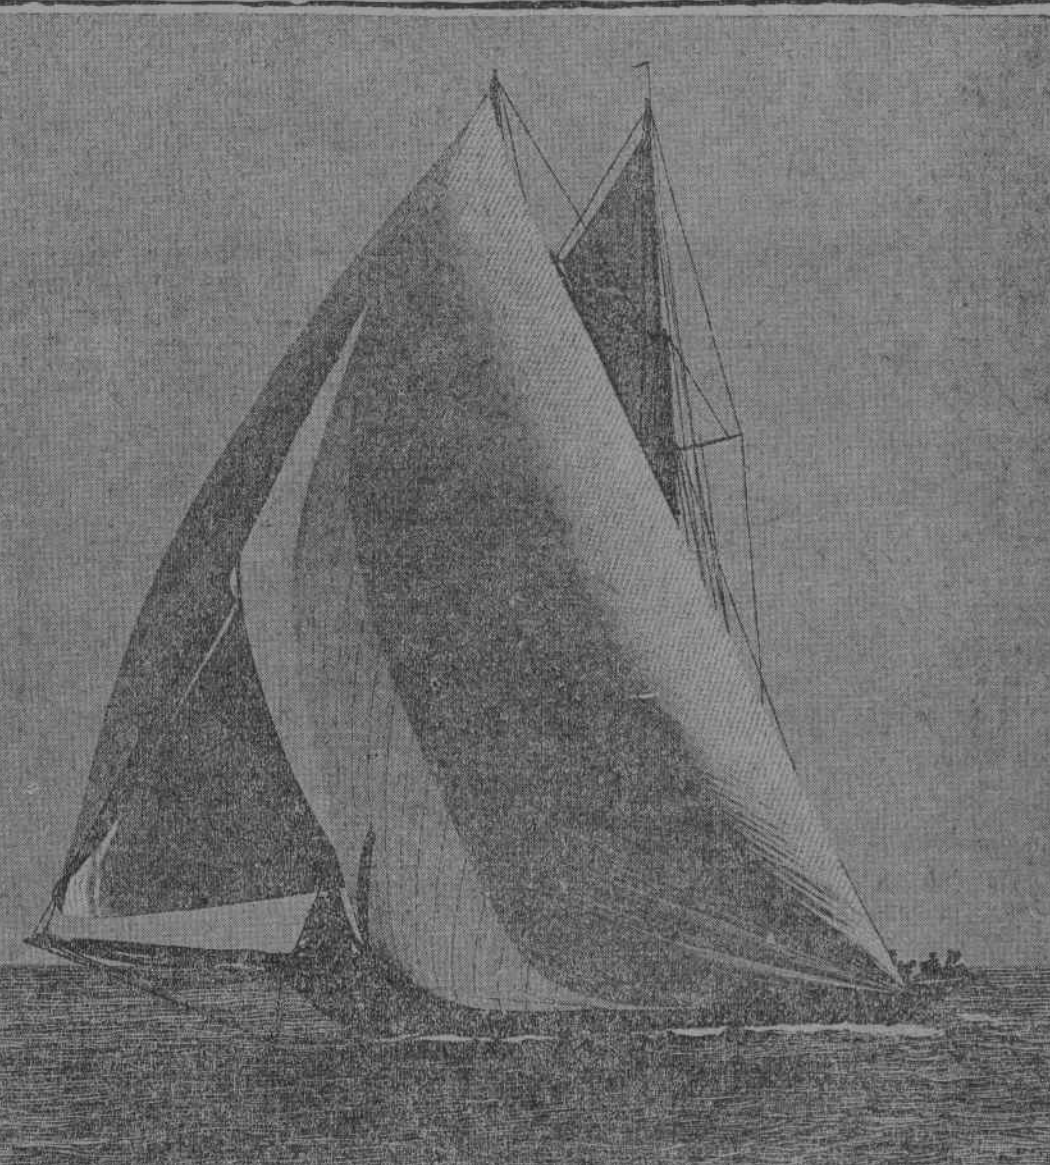

The polo teams which have just left Far Rockaway for Narragansett had their most successful games there and the largest crowds, and the youngsters—the sons of the veteran polo players who put up such an excellent game the last day—were a revelation. It shows the trend of the people.

At the Beach a team from Paterson, N. J., badly defeated the local team in basket ball, the score standing 9 to 2. The Paterson team was composed of James Mason, Garry Anderson, George Kayton, William Chase, Robert Leed and Ernest Caddy, the Beach team being Bert Desmond, John S. Regan, W. H. Ward, August Klein, Robert C. Kreucher and George Hommel. Robert King, of Paterson, was umpire, and James F. Snedecor, of the Beach, referee. The game was played on the sands and was witnessed by hundreds of summer people.

Saturday the Jamaica Bay Yacht Club held its annual water games, participated in by all the well known young New Yorkers who are members of this lively organization. A reception followed at the club house. This afternoon the club has its tenth racing event of the season. It is known as the Corinthian race, and has boats in three classes. Nearly the entire fleet is out. On the 19th occurs the second annual reception of the Volunteer Life Saving Corps of the Beach. Commodore P. A. Perry is in charge of the arrangements. There will be high diving exhibitions, fancy swimming, swimming races, tub races, etc., by this corps of justly celebrated volunteer heroes.

Mrs. W. W. White, of Brooklyn, has been visiting at the home of Frederick Meyer, president of Rockaway Beach Property Owners' Association. Commodore Oscar M. Lipton, member of the Jamaica Bay Yacht Club, has his new steam yacht Laurena here now and is entertaining lavishly aboard.

Mrs. Andrew Reis and Miss Eva Hanson, of Brooklyn, are visiting Mrs. George Balzer. The Misses Mary and Agnes O'Mara, of Brooklyn, are at the Brandreth Cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Young, of Bayside place, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. George C. Achilles, of Staten Island. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nowhouse, of New York, are at the Magnolia Cottage.

William Brown and family, of Brooklyn, are at the Wadsworth. Miss Elsie Holberg, of New York, is at the Hamilton Cottage. At the Sea Side House: Mr. and Mrs. H.

P. Madden, John Guilfoyle, Edward Mulvaney, T. J. McBride and Meyer Foster were among the men.

Senor Juan Antonio Pemonario, of Madrid, is at the Bayswater.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Fowler have the DeWitt mansion this season.

The prominent cottagers are fighting the entrance of trolleys into Far Rockaway. Among them are such men as: Thomas Gilroy, John Guilfoyle, J. P. Curtis, John Francis Croalin, Meyer Foster, A. C. Haynes, Henry Hinkel, Nell Kierman, Archibald Mutch, John Harper, John O'Kane, Russel Abrams and Eugene Gilroy.

At the United States: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sanford, Miss M. L. Merrill, J. D. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glennen, Mr. and Mrs. P. Thompson, J. A. Blair, Mrs. A. Adelphi, A. G. Fitzsimmons, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. West, Rev. F. J. Hughes, John Walsh, Rev. Charles Parks, W. T. Tager.

Kenmore: W. W. Pratt, D. O. Davenport, Miss Alice Nelson, D. C. Durin, G. L. Lawson, J. F. McNabae.

White Mountains,

Mount Pleasant House, N. H., Aug. 5.—The Mount Pleasant House is entertaining some distinguished guests, among whom are Lady Laurier, wife of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada; her son, Henri Laurier, and Mrs. S. N. Belcourt, of Ottawa.

General Edgar Allan, of Washington, second in command of the United States army, is at the Mount Pleasant for the season, accompanied by Mrs. Allan, Miss Lola L. Allan and Mrs. Edith Allan Crump. Other noted arrivals are Colonel J. B. Billinger, U. S. A., and Mrs. Billinger, also of Washington.

Mr. C. R. Fay, of Amherst College, accompanied by Mrs. Fay and Mrs. Tuckerman, widow of Professor Tuckerman, of Amherst, are among recent arrivals at the Crawford.

Mrs. Maurice M. Minton, two children and maid of New York, are at the Flume House for the season.

Mrs. Huntington Elwell, the well-known lecturer of New York, is at the Kearsarge, North Conway, for the summer.

Prominent Philadelphia clergymen at the little hamlet of Jackson for the summer are Rev. Dr. E. P. Bruen, who is with a large party at the Iron Mountain House, and Rev. Charles S. Albert, who is summering at the Jackson Falls House.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fulton, Jr., of New York, have joined the ranks of cottagers at the Profile House, having taken cottage No. 7 for the season. Mr. Marlon Wright, of the Philadelphia Country Club and in the first ranks of American golfers, has been spending several days at the Waumbek as the guest of Mr. James Converse, and is much pleased with the Waumbek links.

The Waumbek is entertaining Mr. Joseph Jefferson, whose creation of Rip Van Winkle is one never to be forgotten by those who have witnessed it.

An event which is looked forward to with much pleasure by the guests at the Waumbek is a concert to be given there on August 19 under the direction of Professor William R. Chapman, of New York. The artists who will appear are Miss Charlotte Maconda, Mr. Gilwyn Miles, Mr. Hans Kronold, Miss Carrie Bridwell and Mr. William C. Weeden. They came with Mr. Chapman from New York, and will be remembered as the soloists who have helped make the monthly concerts at the Waldorf-Astoria so popular.

Miss Dora Goldthwaite, leading lady in one of Charles Frohman's companies, is spending a few weeks at the Howard, in Bethlehem.

The Fabian House is entertaining Professor Ernst Herter and wife, of Berlin, Germany.

Thousand Islands,

Alexandria Bay, Aug. 5.—Up here on the St. Lawrence, among these many verdure clad islands, there is but one life, and that is on the water under the deep blue skies, drinking in this glorious air and enjoying all the aquatic sports. There is no force sun to deter you here; everything is tempered by the climate, and you would be a shorn lamb indeed if you did not enjoy it. Boating is par excellence the sport of the Thousand Islands. It is perfectly fascinating to sail or to row, or to even risk the birch bark canoe and meander among these beautiful gems of the St. Lawrence. Fishing is excellent, and you have all the advantages for the eternal and everlasting golf and it is never too warm to play tennis. In fact the atmosphere exhilarates you and tempts you to exertion. You do not want to pass a minute indoors. And the life glides away with sailing and fishing parties and excursions to the mainland, and now and then a trial at lacrosse and racquets—games which are too seldom played in the United States. I, for one, can never resist golf a little bit, and when I am not on the water I go over to Lawrence Park, where there are splendid links, always crowded. In fact, there is no outdoor sport which does not thrive among the Thousand Islands, where the air is like wine and existence one golden dream.

The attendance of visitors at the river is unprecedented in Thousand Islands history. Everywhere and on every hand is one round of pleasure and merry making by the thousands of city people who have congregated at the river for a season of recreation. The "Consuelo," the beautiful steam yacht owned by Gilbert T. Rafferty, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was totally destroyed by fire last Sunday morning. Loss, $45,000.

A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by those who attended the sailing party given by Mrs. F. P. Stoddard, of Brooklyn, in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Lillian Stoddard. Among the invited guests were: The Misses Deane, Miss Ruth Simons, Miss Hattie L. Stoddard, Miss Ferris, Miss Rudie, Edwin L. De Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helm, of Brooklyn. Miss Lillian is the accomplished daughter of Rev. F. P. Stoddard, pastor of Park Place Baptist Church, Brooklyn, and together with her parents is summering at Grennell Park.

Senator and Mrs. A. P. Gorman, of Maryland, have arrived at the Thousand Island House for the month. Senator Gorman is in ill health, but has been assured a speedy recovery in this climate of the lakes.

Mrs. Edward Luckenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Luckenbach, Miss Dorothy Luckenbach, and L. L. Luckenbach, of Brooklyn, have arrived at the New Frontenac.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Van Eiten and Mrs. Alice M. Price have returned to their home in New York after a pleasant vacation spent at the Thousand Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Underhill, Miss Florence Underhill and Mr. and Mrs. C. Sykes, of Brooklyn, are cottagers at Round Island.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Browning, of New York, are recent arrivals at Round Island for the season.

The golf links at Round Island are patronized by the wealth, beauty and fashion at the river, and among the most enthusiastic golfers at the islands are General Wallace, Miss Helen Wallace and Miss Hiseock.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tate, Miss Tate, Mr. and Mrs. D. McD. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Clesman, of New York, will be guests at the New Frontenac for the remainder of the season.

Lake George,

Aug. 5.—The St. George Golf Club, at the head of the lake, has among its members such well-known people as Mr. Legrand C. Cramer, of Troy; Mr. Harry W. Hayden, of New York; Mrs. Glogau, of St. Louis, and a host of others, other cottagers along the shore or guests at the hotels. The links are situated on the grounds of what was formerly known as the Caldwell Mansion, but is now the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Spier. Mr. Spier is a very wealthy man, and is one of the most important personages in the International Paper Company.

On the grounds of the Sagamore the links are situated on the west side of the island. Some of the players here are Commodore John Boulton Simpson, Mr. James H. Fraser, Mr. D. S. Mallory, of Baltimore, and Mr. Campbell, of Schenectady. The second of a series of weekly handicap tournaments was held on the links this week. Mrs. Miner, of Chicago, and Mr. Mallory, of Baltimore, captured the cups given as prizes. Links are now being built on the ground of the Hundred Island House, Shelving Rock, in the Narrows.

It has been the custom for years to hold regattas as several points on the lake. This summer the regatta at Hague, by the Hague Rowing Association, will be one of the most important events in Northern New York. Besides the rowing and many racing events the race for the great silver loving cup given by Town Topics will call together many of the fastest launches in the United States. The cup is given with the understanding that it is to be raced for by boats propelled by any other power than steam. It is open to all naphtha, also-vapor or electric boats in the country. Mr. Henry Watrous won the cup last year, and provided he wins it again this season the cup becomes his property absolutely. Mr. Watrous is the secretary of the National Academy and owns a fine place on the lake near Hague. He has built and launched a new clipper of a craft, which will enter for the cup in this year's races.

Edward Frost, of New York, has rented the Madison cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bason and daughter, Mrs. Anthony Green, have returned from Europe, a large reception being given them at the home of their son, William Bason, Jr.

Clarence C. Irish, of Brooklyn, has secured the Danes cottage, on Handstone avenue, for the summer.

Edward E. Edwards, of New York, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Thornhill, at the Kensington. Walter L. Suydam leaves Blue Point this week to join his mother at Pointe au Pic, Canada, for August.

Robert E. Fox, W. C. Keator, Mrs. M. J. Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dobson, of New York, are at the South Bay House, Blue Point.

Mrs. G. A. Telford, Mrs. P. J. Travis, Mrs. G. Howels, Joseph McMahon, Mrs. Ellen Donohue, of New York, are at the Warner House, Blue Point.

Captain Harry P. Hall, of the yacht Quissetta, has been spending a few days at his home near Islip.

Miss Carrie E. Duffy, of Brooklyn, won the prize as graceful dancer at St. Mary's fair, at
